

About TBOY

TBOY started his artistic journey at Worthing College of Art and Design on the South coast of England, initially delving into the realm of Fine Art before changing to 3D Design. Following his academic pursuits, he joined an apprenticeship in bespoke frame-making and colour finishing, where he unearthed a multitude of techniques that would profoundly shape his artistic vision.

For a long time fate had other plans, leading TBOY down a different path into the world of online retail, specialising in rare trainers and streetwear. Yet, throughout this period, he continued to quietly nurture his passion for creative expression.

Influenced by iconic figures, his love of music, and pivotal moments in history, TBOY's work has garnered global acclaim and is sought after by art enthusiasts all over the world. His artistry, characterised by a profound appreciation for craftsmanship, texture and precision, has earned him an impressive reputation far and wide.

His artistic ethos is steeped in an unrelenting pursuit of detail and a commitment to impeccable finishing. He skilfully weaves thought-provoking messages and humour into his work, whilst focusing on crafting unique, one-of-a-kind pieces and exclusive limited editions.

He is represented by Wishbone Publishing Ltd, and sells throughout the UK and globally, both online, and via quality galleries.
